

French Benchmark Three: Comparing weekly planners

Time to show what you know!

You have practiced many of the following functions:

- Describing yourself, your family and friends
- Talking about what you have and what you need
- Talking about time and dates
- Talking about likes and dislikes
- Talking about school subjects
- Talking about what you do and don't do and where you go

You have practiced and learned vocabulary dealing with many of the following contexts:

- Time and dates
- Likes and dislikes
- The school and classroom
- The home, family and friends
- Social activities
- Leisure time activities

- 1. With a partner, create a weekly planner for each of you (your teacher will provide you with a model). Your benchmark task is to create a French weekly planner on which you will write the classes you are taking (the French way), the activities you have planned to do during that week, and time with your family. You may use notebook paper or create your weekly planners using computer graphics.
- 2. Once your planners are written, meet within an editing group and have your group edit your work twice. The final version must be word processed or in ink and given to your teacher before your presentation.
- 3. You will be expected to have a conversation with your partner for no longer than three minutes about your weekly planners. You cannot use a script for your oral presentation. The weekly planner should remind you what to say. You could include the following:
 - a. Ask questions about what your partner does on certain days
 - b. Describe your activities, where you are and where you go
 - c. Tell the time you do these activities and how often
 - d. Talk about people with whom you will do an activity
- 4. Refer to the scoring rubric for how you will be assessed.
- 5. You will be asked to take notes in French as you listen to other presentations. Be prepared to fill out a blank weekly planner in the correct sequence and with some detail
